

Adding the Pulldown Menu

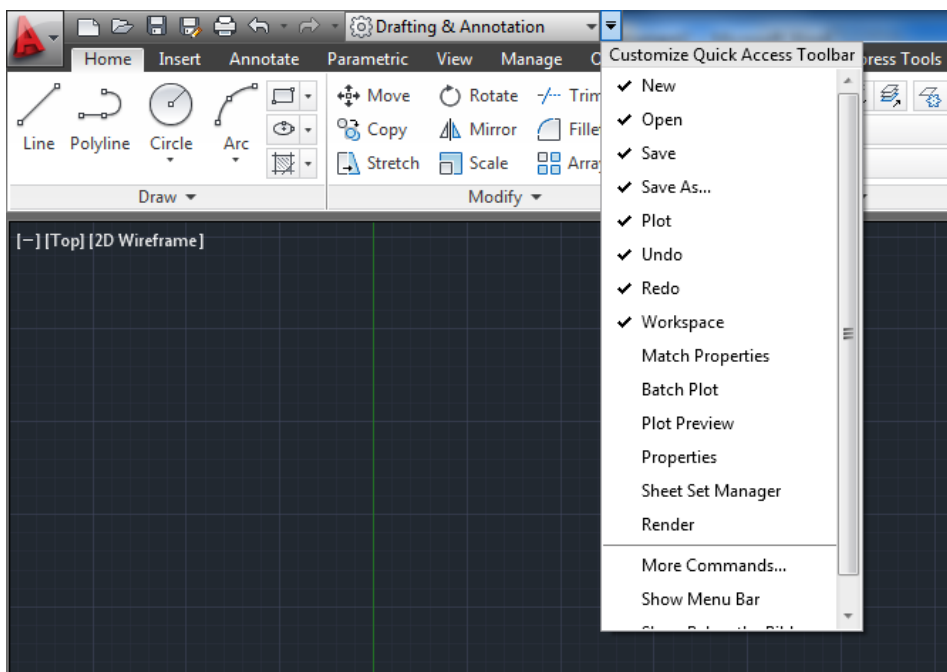

AutoCAD Users

Changing the user interface

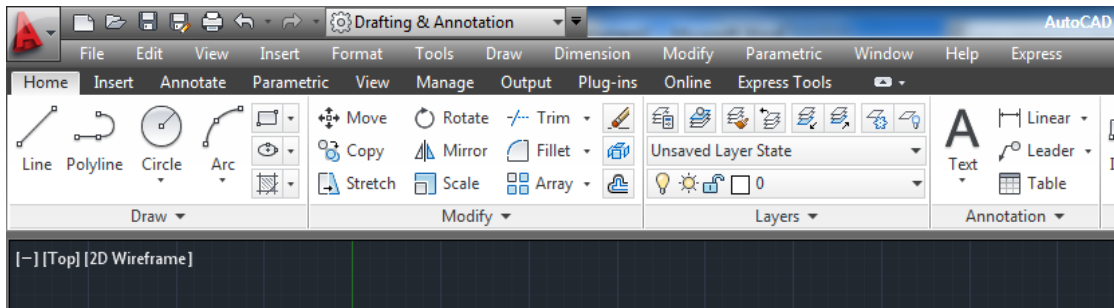

Quick Display Tip 2 – Adding the Menu Bar without removing the Ribbon Menu

Following on from Quick Display Tip 1, it is also possible to have on screen both the Ribbon and the pull down menu, this configuration can be very useful in the cross over period between using the pull down menu and moving on to the Ribbon, again it's a quick and easy to add, but often over looked.

Again from the Quick Access Toolbar, there is a drop down arrow just to the right of the Work Space drop down. By left mouse clicking on this tool a menu is displayed, as below.

At the bottom of the list, there is the function “Show Menu Bar”, by selection this option the menu bar will be displayed.

This may help with the transition from the old to the new since this configuration offers the quickness of the Ribbon and also the familiarity of the pull down.